The Zimbabwe Electricity Transmission and Distribution Company (ZETDC) has set March 18, 2020, as the deadline for bids on its ambitious plan to construct three large-scale battery storage facilities with a combined capacity of 1,800MW. The Zimbabwe Electricity Transmission and Distribution Company (ZETDC) has set March 18, 2020, as the deadline for bids on its ambitious plan to construct three large-scale battery storage facilities with a combined capacity of 1,800MW. The project, designed to alleviate Zimbabwe's persistent power shortages, is modeled after The Hornsdale Power Reserve in South Australia, often dubbed the 'Tesla Big Battery,' has proven that large-scale battery storage systems can significantly enhance grid stability. Several international firms have submitted bids to construct three large-scale power facilities to store electricity. Zimbabwe's power transmission company has invited bids for companies to install energy storage units as part of measures to ease crippling energy shortages. Zimbabwe Electricity Transmission & Distribution Co. wants battery-storage units installed on four sites that will provide at least three GWh of storage capacity. In a major step for the national grid, the Zimbabwe Electricity Transmission and Distribution Company (ZETDC) has tendered for 1,800MWh of battery storage. Want to read more? Don't have an account?
